Breaking the cycle of abuse, one family at a time
Message From the Executive Director

Child abuse is a tough subject to address. All too often, abuse appears to surface only when a family is in dire crisis. Our unique goal at the Child Abuse Prevention Center is to serve families on the brink of crisis—empowering them to break the generational cycle of child abuse and family violence. Our approach is to “go to where the need is”—typically in homes—and connect with families where their risks are. While we are making great strides, we cannot meet the needs of the children and families in our community alone. Fortunately, the community rallied around our kids and families in this past fiscal year to provide incredible value for our program participants. We were able to continue to innovate and grow to meet the critical need in our community. Here are just a few of the remarkable accomplishments that our community was able to achieve for the benefit of our children:

- Our team launched a new response program to engage tots and toddlers facing developmental challenges.
- Over 4,000 families built a more stable home environment through our programs.
- Our Families Helping Families effort connected over 400 volunteer families to 342 of our most at-risk families to bring calm, peace, and stability to their lives.
- Our “Child Abuse: kNOw more!” campaign through billboards and electronic media, brought facts and acts of support to our community.
- Our partnership with the Ragnar Relay Series connected us with over 8,000 runners and raised much needed funds.
- Community supporters, advocates, and County leaders celebrated the 25th anniversary of our Child Abuse Services Team, a collaborative effort which helps eliminate the trauma of investigations for the most traumatic child abuse cases in our community.
- Our speakers, like Rhoni Wiswall, inspired our community with their personal stories of overcoming a childhood of isolation and abuse by addressing audiences at events, high schools and community centers.
- Our leadership in countywide collaboratives such as the Bridges for Newborns network, Neighbor to Neighbor collaborative, and the Alliance for Children and Families is changing the way nonprofits provide direct services in Orange County.

While we have these and many other accomplishments to celebrate, we choose to place our focus on the next 50 years—the years in which we will work together to end child abuse in Orange County. We cannot reach our goal without you. We are all a part of the fight against child abuse, and we thank you for helping us break the cycle of abuse for the kids who need us most.

Sincerely,

Scott Trotter
Executive Director
Message From the Board Chair

I am proud to be involved with the Child Abuse Prevention Center as we celebrate our 31st year of preventing child abuse in Orange County. While we continue in our mission of breaking the generational cycle of child abuse, we also continue to strengthen the quality and impact of our services to those in crisis. With more than 38,000 instances of child abuse in our community each year, the preventative services we offer to families are increasingly in demand. Now, more than ever, we must continue to impact the lives of children in need and advocate for the prevention of child abuse.

As Board Chair for the 2013-2014 fiscal year, I had the great fortune of witnessing the impact of our in-home and outreach-based prevention services on the community. There are countless stories of families whose lives have been changed and whose hope has been renewed as they build a better life for their children. These stories of hope—including the stories that you will see on the pages of this report—are only possible with the help of a caring community that shares our vision of eliminating child abuse.

Your continued investment in our mission allows our organization to be in a strong position of growth and advocacy. With 91 cents of every dollar going directly to our programs, your investment is the catalyst for powerful change in our families’—and our children’s—lives. Thank you for your support and for joining us in giving Orange County’s children a brighter future.

Sincerely,

Paul

Paul Godby
Board Chair
2013-2014 Fiscal Year
Cristal, a 28-year-old mother of two, enrolled in our Infant program after giving birth to her newborn baby. While she was pregnant, her husband Joe was violent and abusing several substances, creating an unhealthy and unstable home for her children.

One day, Joe came home in an angry rage and beat their two-year-old child. Cristal was pregnant at the time, and Joe tried to squeeze her stomach to abort the baby. Terrified, Cristal fled with her toddler and called the police. It took all her strength to leave Joe and give birth to her baby all on her own.

Now Cristal is enrolled in our program and connected to long-term therapy to help her heal from her violent past. She is breaking the cycle for her two beautiful children and has hope for a better life with them.

Mission

The Child Abuse Prevention Center directly serves at-risk children and families in crisis to prevent and break the generational cycle of child abuse.

Values

We value every child’s right to grow up in a safe and nurturing home environment.

At A Glance

The Orange County Child Abuse Prevention Center is the largest nonprofit organization in Orange County focused solely on the prevention of child abuse. We are an organization of 120 staff members, over 400 volunteers and 15 programs—all of which have a well-documented record of strengthening parent-child relationships and preventing abuse before it occurs.

Our programs bring parent education, mental health and counseling, and family support services directly to families at risk of child abuse and neglect. The single most distinguishing feature of our services is the emphasis on intensive in-home parent education and care. Our service model is based on research by the U.S. Advisory Board on Child Abuse and Neglect that endorses in-home support as the most effective approach to successfully preventing child maltreatment. Prevention-focused services are proven to save our community $5.70 to $20 for every prevention dollar spent.
Collaborative Spotlight

Neighbor to Neighbor Collaborative
The Child Abuse Prevention Center is a central partner in the Neighbor to Neighbor collaborative. Neighbor to Neighbor is a multi-disciplinary collaborative designed to serve the families reported to the Child Abuse Registry in a preventative fashion.

Children’s Bureau, The Child Abuse Prevention Center, the Health Care Agency, Public Health Nurses, Olivecrest and Safe Families, The Raise Foundation, and Social Services Agency have formed a community-based collaboration to lead the way.

Last year, the Neighbor to Neighbor collaborative reached out to over 1,000 families to provide assessments, offer services, and provide support to prevent child abuse.

Alliance for Children and Families
The Child Abuse Prevention Center is a founding member of the Alliance for Children and Families. This new organization aims to be a strategic leader in bringing Orange County’s nonprofits together to more effectively collaborate for the benefit of the children facing dire need in our community.

Bridges for Newborns
A partnership between community hospitals and providers like MOMS Orange County, this collaborative brings in-home support to new moms in high-risk situations.

"Serve" programs helped bring hope and intensive support to over 10,000 people.

| SERVE PROGRAMS | Infants \text{serve high-risk families with infants in order to strengthen bonding, attachment, and self-sufficiency} |
| Toddler | We serve high-risk families with toddlers in order to promote positive parenting, positive behavior, and positive relationships |
| Coach | We serve families suspected of abuse in order to prevent future abuse by coaching families to a healthier place |
| In-Home Focused | We provide intensive family support services in order to prevent negative parenting patterns and abusive behaviors |
| In-Home Mental Health | We bring mental health support to isolated parents in order to enable the parent to meet the needs of their children |
| Crisis Stabilization | We serve suicidal and homicidal children who can’t be hospitalized in order to diffuse the crisis, promote a healthy family, and keep the family unit together |
| School Readiness | We reach out to families with toddlers who have fallen between the cracks in order to prepare the family to support their child’s transition to school |
| Visitation | We serve families who have been separated in order to reconnect the family as a unit in a safe, healthy environment |
| Child Abuse Services Team (CAST) | We serve child victims of abuse in order to reduce the trauma they experience while their abuse is investigated |
| Basic Needs | We serve families gaining custody of children in order to provide critically-needed household items |
Success Story – Well Program

Gabe* was 15 years old and lived in a rough area of Anaheim. The area had high drug and gang activity. One day, he started coming home from school and telling his mom Isabel that he wanted to go to jail. He would come home every day and tell Isabel the same thing: “Mom, I want to go to jail. Please let them take me to jail.”

Terrified, Isabel called our Well program for children’s mental health. Gabe confided in our staff that he was being told by gang members that he had to kill another boy at school or the gang would in turn kill him. He was so afraid, and thought the only way to escape the situation was by going to jail. Our caseworker Brenda got the police involved and encouraged the family to send Gabe away to a rehab facility to go through intensive therapy and remove him from the toxic environment. He is now in a program receiving treatment and the police are cleaning up the school to make it safe for all students in attendance.

The 2013-2014 fiscal year brought a record number of people together to rally around our cause. From dedicated volunteers to heartfelt advocates to special events that were a smashing success, we created awareness for our mission in exciting new ways that will lead the fight for child abuse prevention for years to come.

Our partnership with the So Cal Ragnar Relay blossomed this year as we supported the negotiation of the race route. Our runners raised over $35,000 for our kids and families, and all 8,000 Ragnar runners stopped at Prevention Village at Exchange Six to celebrate our cause and take part as Irvine Mayor Pro Tem Jeff Lalloway presented Board Member Randy Riley of Northwestern Mutual with the 2014 Community Service Award.

The 2013 holiday season brought 155 donors together to provide clothing, basic necessities and gifts to 390 of our neediest families. Over 1,200 people received desperately needed items for the holidays, including 28 families adopted by the Los Angeles Kings. These families enjoyed an unforgettable day of ice skating and family fun while attending a game and meeting the players. The connections our families made with the “Santas” who adopted them created stability, hope, and positive change for a brighter future.
Rhoni Wiswall

Rhoni Wiswall came to our cause not only as a successful business leader and Managing Partner at Neuberger Berman, but as someone directly affected by child abuse. As a child growing up in Orange County, she and her brother faced isolation and abuse in a home filled with substance abuse and violence. Despite these challenges, one constant force in her life remained—a weekly letter from her grandmother, which gave her hope and empowered her as she excelled in school and worked her way through college to build a brighter future for herself.

Tragically, her brother lacked the same constant source of support, and his path was very different. He has spent most of his life in prison, and lacked the hope and support necessary to move past the trauma of his childhood abuse.

Rhoni courageously shared her story at the Bright Futures Celebration Gala on May 17, 2014, where her daughter was in attendance and learned for the first time that her mother had broken the cycle of abuse. Rhoni serves as a shining example of how even one small glimmer of hope can help change a child’s life forever.

The Child Abuse Services Team (CAST) celebrated 25 years of providing hope, support, and direct services to children as they give testimony to child abuse investigations. As a “one-stop shop” that collaborates with law enforcement, the district attorney’s office, medical providers, Orange County Social Services Agency, and volunteer advocates, CAST is a nationally recognized leader in the field of child abuse investigations.

Under the leadership of dedicated volunteer committees, our fundraising events soared to new heights in fiscal year 2014. A record-breaking Charity Golf classic kicked off the year in August, followed by the No So Serious Golf Outing’s return to Orange County in October and our Casino Royale in March. In May, we hosted the 16th Annual Bright Futures Celebration Masquerade—our biggest event of the year—and unmasked the issue of child abuse in Orange County. Our Not So Serious Golf Outing ended the year in June with a Wonderland-themed tea party. Thank you to our sponsors, volunteers, and all who attended our events to celebrate our cause and raise critical funds for our programs.
Champion of Children

Beau Allen
Patrick Connell

While most 10-year-olds want to celebrate their birthdays with cake, presents, and a party, Beau Allen Patrick Connell thought of a wonderful way to raise money for the Child Abuse Prevention Center. All year long leading up to his birthday, Beau made it his mission to find donations, auction items, and partnerships to raise money for the kids and families in our programs. He met his goal of raising $10,000 for our 16th Annual Bright Futures Celebration, where he was honored as a Champion of Children. Beau’s efforts are a wonderful reminder that children truly are our most precious resource and greatest investment.
Volunteer Statistics

This fiscal year brought more volunteers than ever to our cause. Over 800 volunteers provided more than 25,000 hours of volunteer work to help our kids and families—totaling $380,000 in value for our cause. Students from UCI Irvine Greek Songfest dedicated an entire school year to supporting our cause, bringing over $70,000 in value to our cause. It is with the help of interns, core volunteers, and individuals who generously give back to the community that we are able to make great strides in the fight against child abuse.

Words From Our Clients

“My family coach not only connected me with getting counseling, but she also listened to me and helped me be a better mother. My communication skills improved immensely. I don’t have to be screaming at my children anymore and my children’s behavior has improved. Thank you so much for all your dedication.”

“At first I wanted my family coach to fix my child, but now that we went through the program she helped me fix myself. There’s nothing wrong with my child, he needed guidance and a mother to lead him and communicate with him.”

“My family coach taught me of how to deal with stress and how to cope with stressful situations and find solutions to them. The bond between my son and I improved so much, before I used to think that he was the one with the problem but now I know that it was me whom was making my son act out and be aggressive. Thank you Kimmie for helping me be a better mother for my son.”
